PATROL REPORTS

Lightning

It's been many days since my last letter, and so much has happened. The world has gone cold. The first quarter of school has passed. The presidential election draws ever nearer. And the History channel still refuses to air anything about history. And the Lightning Patrol? We are expanding in our mental and financial wealth. Nothing can stop us. Nothing. Not even you. We continue to raise in ranks, experience success, and learn skills. You're welcome.

-Daniel Padilla

Cyco- Penguins

I worked at the Fall Festival last weekend. It was VERY disappointing. Only about six people arrived for setup, four to work, and four to take down. We need to start taking responsibility and working!

Unknown (New Scouts)

Not much happened in the Unknown Patrol this month, so here is a joke for you.

A blonde and a redhead were watching the 6:00 news when a story came up about a man who was threatening to jump off the Brooklyn Bridge. The blonde bet the redhead that the man wouldn't jump off the bridge and the redhead accepted.

Well, sure enough, the man jumped and so the blonde gave the redhead the 50 bucks. "I can't take this, you're my best friend."

The blonde looked at her, "Just take it."

"Well, I saw this on the 5:00 news, so I knew he was gonna jump off."

The blonde laughed, "I did too, but I didn't think he'd do it again." -John Lyvers

Crusaders

Cold weather camping is very grueling. It is really good and really dangerous. A lot of stuff could happen and they are not too good. You could get hurt bad. Dehydration is important in the winter just like summer.
