A Smart Doctor

By: Thomas Luehrmann

Once upon a time there were two doctors, Dr. Young and Dr. Geezer. Dr. Geezer decided that he was going to make a special offer to the citizens of the town for a limited time. This offer was the following: He promised to cure any of their ailments for only 500 dollars. BUT, if he did not cure them, he had to pay his customer 1000 dollars. Thinking that he could make some easy money, Dr. Young went to Dr. Geezer's hospital.

Dr. Young said, "Dr. Geezer, I have lost all taste in my mouth. Can you cure me?"

Dr. Geezer replied, "Nurse, please get bottle 23 off the shelf, and place three drops on the patient's tongue."

Dr. Young tasted the medicine, "Yuck! This is gasoline!"

"Congratulations! You're cured! That will be 500 dollars." Dr. Young was quite upset that he had lost 500 dollars so he decided to go back the next day.

"Dr. Geezer, I have lost all hearing. Can you cure me?"

Dr. Geezer replied, "Nurse, please get bottle 23 off the shelf, and place three drops on the patient's tongue."

"Oh, no you don't! That's gasoline!"

Dr. Geezer replied, "Congratulations! You're cured! That will be 500 dollars." Dr. Young went home holding a grudge against Dr. Geezer. Therefore, he decided that he could probably break even on the whole affair, and went back the next day.

"Dr. Geezer, I have lost all eyesight. Can you help me?"

Dr. Geezer sorrowfully replied, "Well, I am sorry to inform you that I do not have a cure for that," and he handed him a one dollar bill.

"But this is a one dollar bill!"

Dr. Geezer replied, "Congratulations! You're cured! That will be 500 dollars."

The moral of the story is: Even if you are young, it doesn't mean you can outsmart a geezer.

A Wise Word

By: Luke Sherman

Can you imagine that in ancient times there was no space in between words and to make it more confusing they wrote in a weird language plus no cumu setu metanow that would bemiser.
